SPRING SPORTS GET UNDER WAY—PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Baseball Squad is Staging Daily Games on the Campus.

SPEED AND FIGHT OF MEN IS ENCOURAGING SIGN.

Every Position is in Doubt. Green Pitching Staff is Problem.

Coach Stone's baseball squad is down to real work on the campus and stages daily games between two mixed teams. Given one week of spring-like weather, the diamond aspirants will be in fairly good condition to start their drive for the opening game on April 11, with Clark University. The most pleasing thing about the squad, to the eyes of upperclassmen, is the "pepper" and fight every man shows. From captain to Freshmen the coach has them all on their toes and talking things up all the time.

The games played thus far have forcibly demonstrated two things. First, that rivalry for each position will be very keen, and, second, that the team that is finally selected to represent Trinity on the diamond this spring will be a vast improvement in every way over the previous post-war clubs. Particularly gladdening to the eye is the amount of speed the squad boasts. Base running has been very weak in the past few years, but the 1922 nine will have speed to burn. In captain Cram, Norman, Robinson, Ortgies, Morris, Tobie, and Wilcox, Coach Stone has a bunch of sprinters all of whom are dangerous when they get on the paths.

Hitting, too, seems to show a decided improvement, although little can be said of this department of attack until warm weather boils out the pitchers' arms, and the men are given a chance to look at curve balls. The loss of "Böb" Reynolds from the batting order will be severely felt, but, though no one can deliver hits as long as those that ring from the ex-captain's war club, the number of men who can drive the ball over the infield, seems to have increased. Last season many well-pitched games were lost because of an impotent attack. The coming spring bids fair to remedy this weakness.

Fighting Spirit.

The unusually splendid fighting spirit displayed thus far is undoubtedly due to the personality and aggressiveness of the coach. He has imbued every man with his spirit, and in addition, has given them to understand that no loafing will be tolerated. As a consequence, hits are run out to the full, team play in batting is already an accomplished fact, base runners always "hit the dirt", and a team spirit, which has been lacking for some time, is rapidly developing.

Green Pitching Staff.

The principal worry of the college all year when baseball has been mentioned, has been pitching. The team will be compelled to depend for its boxwork upon a practically green staff. "Jack" Ortgies' speed ball and cool head are no longer available, and Reynolds is out of the game for five weeks with a broken arm. However, one man who has had some experience in college ball, is on hand, and two Freshmen who come to college with excellent records in prep school circles, will help him out. Bowdidge, who is a pitcher, has been forced to play in the outfield while in college because of a bad shoulder. This no longer bothers him, and he is turning

Forty Men Report to Coach Drew For Track.

PROSPECTS FOR WINNING TEAM BEST IN YEARS.

Thirteen Veterans Form Nucleus. Many New Men With Fine Prep. School Records.

Forty men answered Coach Harold Drew's call for track practice which began last week. This is the largest track squad that Trinity has had for several years. In spite of the loss of such men as Ransom, who was captain of last year's team, Hungerford, captain of the cross country team, Ameluxen, who gained many points in the broad jump and the low and high hurdles, Bradley, who was a valuable man in the middle distances, and Johnson, a weight man, Coach Drew has a wealth of material with which to work. The new men are proving easily capable of taking the places of those men lost by graduation.

Practice is at present being held on the campus, as the running track is still too wet to use. But fortunately the track is drying out much faster this year than has been the case for the last few years and it ought to be in shape the latter part of this week. Due to the fact that the track can not be used right away Coach Drew is as yet unable to tell the real merits of some of the new men who are at present more or less unknown quantities.

Veterans Back.

Of last year's letter men Nash, Clapp, captain of the team, Richman, Brill, Tenney and Smith are in college now and will form a nucleus around which to build this year's team. Allen, Guertin, Mitchell, Keating, Palmer, Gesner, and Tansill were also on last year's squad. With the advantage of last year's experience Smith will undoubtedly prove to be a very valuable man in the pole vault. Tenney is a dash man and made his letter in track in his Freshman year. Nash was one of last year's finds in the broad and high jumps, and in the dashes. Last year one of the weakest points of the team was in the weight events. This will be greatly strengthened by the addition of Fischer, '25, who is a shot putter and discus thrower. Kunkle is also out for the shot put and the discus, as he will not be able to run this year on account of his heart. Another big asset to this year's team is Johnson, a Freshman, who was one of the mainstays of the Hartford High School team last year. Johnson does the middle distances. In the Penn. Relays last spring he did the 440-yard dash in 51. Healey, a half miler, is another contribution from Hartford High. Morton is also out for the half mile and looks like a valuable addition. For the past week Coach Drew has been working with the weight men and is giving the rest of the squad just general work until the track is in condition to be used.

Blind Athlete in Weights.

Herman Immeln, who is totally blind, has also reported to Coach Drew as a candidate for the track team. Immeln is trying out for the weight events. Although this is the first time he has ever done any thing of that kind he is fast rounding into shape especially in the shot put. He practices regularly every day, and judging from his present form he ought to prove to be a very valuable

ALUMNI HALL BEING REBUILT

R. F. Burns of Hartford Awarded Contract.

ROOM TO BE USED AS AUXILIARY GYMNASIUM.

Interior to be Unfinished and Will Provide Basketball Court. Movable Stage Provided.

Work on rebuilding Alumni Hall was started Thursday, March 23, by R. F. Burns, Contractor, of Hartford. Scaffolding has been placed around the building, and work on the floor is already under way. It is planned to have the building completed early in May.

For the present the building will be roofed over just as it was before it came to the notice of the mysterious pyromaniac. The floor will be re-laid, so that the room can be used for dances as well as an assembly hall. However, there will be no effort to finish the interior walls and ceiling. The room will be used as an auxiliary to the gymnasium, and the brick walls will be simply painted. The roof will be open to the beams, with lights hung high.

The future use of Alumni Hall will be varied. No stage will be built, but a movable stage will be provided so that plays, concerts and commencements may be housed adequately. Volley ball, and hand ball courts will be marked out, and baskets placed so that the 'varsity basketball team can practice on the campus instead of being compelled to go to the High School gymnasium every night. With the floor space previously occupied by the stage, the room will furnish an almost standard sized court. It will still be necessary to have the games played at the High School, on account of lack of accommodation for spectators, but a serious handicap as to practice will be eliminated.

Dr. Swan to Give New Course.

Dr. H. C. Swan, Professor of Physiology and Hygiene, Physical and Medical Director of the College, is seriously considering making a change in one of his courses by dividing it into two parts; Physiology to be given the first half of the year, and Hygiene to come during the second term. Dr. Swan is in favor of making this course compulsory for all Freshmen.

COL. WILLIAM C. SKINNER, '79, DIES FOLLOWING BREAKDOWN.

Trustee For Many Years and Benefactor of College Leaves Bequest of $5,000.

Colonel William Converse Skinner, '79, born at Malone, N. Y., January 26, 1855, died in Hartford, March 8, as the result of a nervous breakdown. For the past few years Colonel Skinner has been a Trustee of the College and all his life he has been of service in many ways. His last act was to leave the College $5000 and this with his former services will make his loss severely felt. He was a member of the I. K. A. Fraternity.

Colonel Skinner was also a prominent business man and a director of many institutions. He began his business career in 1879 in the wool industry. In 1901 he became connected with Colt's Patent Firearms Mfg. Co., and was elected vice-president. He held the office of president of the firm in 1907 and 1916 and at the time of his death was chairman of the Board of Directors.

A unique tribute was paid to his memory by E. P. Perkins, a guide in the Adirondacks, who for the past 41 years has been Colonel Skinner's guide and companion during his annual hunting trips. Mr. Perkins on hearing of Colonel Skinner's illness came to Hartford to pay his last respects.

MUSEUM RECEIVES GIFT OF BIRDS AND MAMMALS.

The Seinoth Collection is Transferred from Morgan Memorial to the College.

The Museum of Natural History has recently received the Seinoth collection, consisting of eighty-seven birds and seventeen mammals, which has been stored in the Morgan Memorial building. The specimens, mounted by Aldrich, a Hartford taxidermist who died recently, are in excellent condition and round out the collection in Boardman Hall.

Among the specimens of birds are the now rare wood duck, a bald eagle, a snowy owl, five additional species of duck, coots, bitterns, herons, including the black-crowned night heron, rails, Wilson's snipe, nine species of hawk, several parrots, California quail, woodcocks, and various common birds.

The mammals include flying squirrels, black squirrels, mink, weasels, mush rats, rabbits, and other common wild animals. In addition a well mounted specimen of the alligator was included.

Professor Dadourian Writes Paper.

In the September issue of "The London, Edinburgh, and Dublin, Philosophical Magazine," a paper on "The Temperate Coefficient of the Modulus of Longitudinal Elasticity of Steel" by Professor Dadourian, appears. It is a discussion of research work in sound ranging.

While at Princeton University during the war as an aeronautic engineer, Professor Dadourian made the observations contained in his article.

The Connecticut League of Women Voters in coöperation with Trinity College is to hold a School of Citizenship open to men and women, April 6 to 8. This school, although planned along the same lines as the successful school held last October with the coöperation of Yale University, is to present different subject matter, different speakers, and topics of current interest.

While the Yale Citizenship School focused upon the subject of foreign relations and the Washington Conference, the Trinity School is to focus upon the subject of efficient government. Questions of school management, of the reorganization of state administrative work, of methods of voting, of industry, are all burning topics not only in Connecticut but throughout the country. There is hardly a state in the Union where they would not be of interest to voting citizens. They are of special interest in Connecticut where projects of change looking toward greater efficiency are now under discussion. The Connecticut League of Women Voters believes that they are topics in which women take particular interest.

The program for the School is being arranged by the Citizenship Department of the Connecticut League of Women Voters, Miss Mary Bulkley, chairman, Mrs. F. L. C. Kitchelt, director, and by a committee from the college consisting of President Ogilby, Professor Humphrey and Professor Dadourian.

President Remsen B. Ogilby of Trinity College will open the School Thursday afternoon, April 6, with a greeting from the College. Members of the faculty will take a leading part in the three days' program. Professor E. F. Humphrey will speak on "Modern Democracy" Thursday afternoon. On Thursday evening Dr. H. C. Swan will speak on "Sanitation for Schools and Health for Children." Professor F. C. Babbitt will follow Dr. Swan with a discussion of "The District System of School Management."

On Friday morning, April 7, the topic will be the reorganization of state administration, presented by speakers from outside the college. Friday afternoon Professor L. C. Barret will speak on "Campaign Funds and Corrupt Practices", and Professor J. J. McCook will present the subject of "Model Ballots and Venal Voting." In the evening Professor Odell Shepard is to speak on "The Changing Heroine in Fiction," and a woman who is a specialist in industrial questions will speak on "The Changing Heroine in Industry."

Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, Professor G. A. Kleene will offer "Solutions for Certain Problems of Industry," and Professor H. M. Dadourian will discuss "Progress in Science and Politics." The morning session will close with a luncheon and with a special program to be announced later.

AT WILLIAMS.

Associated Press despatches from Williamstown bring the news that practically the entire board of the "Williams Record" has been suspended from college until the end of the Spring Recess on account of the issue of that paper burlesquing the "Springfield Republican." It is not the first time that the board of editors of a college paper has been fired for offending the faculty dignity, a notable case being the one at the University of Colorado two years ago, when the faculty member charged with supervision of the paper went along with the undergraduate members of the board. Then, one must not forget Chancellor Day of Syracuse, who causes one to wonder where he finds time for the duties of chancellor, so busy must he be in shooing away the staff of the "Orange Peel" to other spheres of activity. The case at Williams, however, is the first case of this sort that has come to our knowledge within New England.

The news of the action at Williams did not get to the newspapers of the country until Friday, so the hard working Sunday editors of our metropolitan dailies hardly had time to interview their select list of educators, clergymen and others on whom they call for opinions regarding the last milestone passed by the college man on his road to perdition. Even now, though, they are busy, and the man who stays away from church next Sunday to read the scandal sheets, will undoubtedly be able to peruse another screed on the loose morals of the American college man.

Isn't it about time that America woke up to the realization that the American college man is about the best American we have? It is not necessary to point to the record of the American colleges in the war, that is past history, but just glance at the record which is being made in every field of national activity by these young men who, every June gather up their academic robes so as not to impede their long free strides, stick their diplomas in their hip pockets and plunge headlong into life.

College men have been known to get drunk. Not all college men get drunk, but some of them have succumbed, and surely this gives the wealthy manufacturer with his cellar filled with his private stock a chance for a scathing denunciation of the gilded youth and a chance to point proudly to his own life, uncontaminated with culture. College men, not all of them you understand, but a few, have been known to read regularly certain racy publications and the professor who smirks over the obscenity of the classics, or Boccaccio, will brazenly tell any reporter that he despairs for the future of the young men of today. Then, whisper it not in Gath, college men, nearly all of them, actually, yes, right out in public, swear. You ministers of the Holy Gospel who hold up your hands in holy horror, all over the feature sections of our Sunday newspapers, raving and ranting about the blasphemous tendencies of modern youth—who are you but blasphemers with your serpentine sneaking after the limelight and your measuring of the success of your stewardship by the wealth represented in your congregation?

The Williams faculty is setting a very bad example to the faculties of other colleges in these United States. New England has ever been conservative, but it has generally been law abiding and without predilection for the "necktie parties" of other sections of the country. The "Williams Record" exercised that right of the freedom of the press which is guaranteed to all citizens by the Constitution of the United States. It is, we confess, with unbounded surprise that we behold a group headed by Dr. Garfield, the incumbent of a not unimportant office of the United States Government during the struggle of that government to make the world safe for democracy, or at least so said the administration of which Dr. Garfield was a part, taking such action with the end of intimidating the college editor and reducing the free press of this country to that state so aptly called "reptile" in the autocracy, which Dr. Garfield worked so hard to curb.

All sessions of the School except the Saturday meeting will be held in the Public Speaking Room, Seabury Hall, which was damaged recently by fire but is now under repair.

Woman Magistrate to Speak.

In addition to members of the Trinity College Faculty, outside speakers who are specialists in the different phases of efficient government, will take part in the Citizenship School conducted by the Connecticut League of Women Voters and Trinity College, April 6 to 8.

Judge Jean H. Norris, City Magistrate of New York, well-known for her constructive interest in women offenders, will speak at the final luncheon at the Bond Hotel, April 8.

Hon. Thomas W. Russell of West Hartford, a member of the General Assembly and one of the Commission appointed by Governor Lake to study the proposed reorganization of state departments, will speak on Friday morning, April 7, on "The Proposed Civil Administration Code for Connecticut."

Mr. J. P. Chamberlain, founder and head of the Legislative Drafting Research Bureau at Columbia University, will present the general topic of the "Reorganization of State Departments," and will tell what other states have done.

Miss Julia O'Connor of Boston, President of the Telephone Operators' Department of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, is to speak on the evening of the same day, April 7, on "The Changing Heroine in Industry." Miss O'Connor who recently returned from a trip to England, Scotland and Ireland, where she made a study of the industries employing large numbers of women, will shortly publish a series of articles on this subject in one of the leading woman's journals.

Men and women not only from Hartford and the surrounding towns expect to attend the School of Citizenship, but from all parts of the state.

Prof. Dadourian's Name in "American Men of Science."

In the latest edition of "American Men of Science", a book in which the prominent contemporary scientists are listed, the name of Professor Dadourian is found. In a special catalogue of 160 men whose works have been the most valuable, he was also listed because of his discoveries in various scientific lines.

The selection of any man for this honor bears distinctive credit, because they are chosen by the votes of all men engaged in science.

PHYSICAL TRAINING IS

REVIVED BY DR. SWAN.

Classes Report in Public Speaking Room. Out-Door Work Soon.

Organized classes in physical training have been in abeyance since the fire in Alumni Hall, but, with the reconditioning of the Public Speaking Room, a large floor space is once more available and Dr. Swan has ordered all Freshman and Sophomore classes to report for work in that room this week. Many of the men have been taking cross country runs during the last few weeks, and out-door classes will be under way as soon as the athletic field is in condition for them.

THRU THE EDITOR'S TRANSMIT

BASEBALL.

in good early season work. Tuck, who comes from Hartford High, with a record of having won every game he started last year, is showing speed, control, and an easy, tireless delivery. Tobie, who, in addition to being a pitcher, can work in the infield, looks well serving them up, except for a tendency to get himself into a hole by wildness. This may pass as the season advances and the weather grows warmer. If so, he will be a valuable man in the box. Then, in addition, Brainard has come out for the team and is working hard. The innings he has pitched thus far in the practice games have been well done. He has good control and is hard to hit. Puels is the only portside in the group and will develop rapidly with experience. Just now, he is wild and has not learned to put his body into the throw, sacrificing both speed and accuracy. With growing confidence in himself, he should prove valuable before the season is over.

Infield Fast.

Every position on the team is in doubt. In fact, the only sure thing about the infield is that, however constituted, it will be a fast and sure fielding aggregation. The practice sessions have seen Jones, of last season's team, and Nordlund, Trinity's all-round star, fighting on almost even terms for the backstop position. Nordlund has not played baseball since his Freshman year, but he handles himself well. Jones has the advantage of experience under fire, and this, with a staff of green pitchers, may be the deciding factor. Ferguson is also working out and is developing well.

At first base Norman, ex-C. C. N. Y. player, is stepping out ahead of all competitors, although not so far that he has the position cinched. He is fast and sure in the field and on the base paths, and a fair hitter. It is this last that will probably land him the place over Canner, who is handicapped on the attack. At second base Captain Cram is being pushed hard by Nobles, ex-Princeton Freshman. Another possibility at the keystone sack is Tobie, when he is not doing mound duty. His speed makes him a valuable man, and one who is likely to find a permanent berth in the batting order. For every position batting will be the deciding factor, as an attack is imperative if games are to be won. Therefore, the early practice finds every man, including the captain, doubtful of his former place in the line-up. Ortgies, Robinson, and Mackinnon are having a merry three-cornered race for short stop and third base. The latter position seems to be Robinson's natural one, and he is fielding it in a manner to delight the eye. However, Mackinnon can field well too, and his hitting has improved greatly over the winter. Ortgies is a natural fighter who is on his toes every minute, so there is little to choose between them.

Morris Shows Well.

At this time the outstanding figure in the outfield seems to be Morris, a Freshman. He is fast, bats and throws left handed, takes a ball easily, and hits them on the nose when he is batting. His one fault is a seeming reluctance to turn his back on a long hit, and this is easily corrected. Morris has also had some experience in the box. Burns, another Freshman, handles himself in the outer pastures even more easily than Morris. However, he is not quite as fast on the bases. If Bowdidge's knee recovers he is another good fielder when he is not in the box. Sutcliffe, who covered left field a year ago, is showing slightly more speed, but will have to fight hard to keep in the line-up. Then, of course, when Reynolds returns to the game one of the pastures is his when he is not pitching. All in all it is a merry scramble.

SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL SEASON CLOSURES WITH A RECORD OF SEVEN WINS AND SEVEN LOSSES—TWO BY ONE POINT

Team Hits Slump Toward End of Schedule.

CAPTAIN NORDLUND BIG STAR OF SEASON.

Prospects For Next Year Bright. Seven Letter Men Return to College.

An easy victory over Boston University on St. Patrick's Day closed another successful basketball season for the Blue and Gold. It is true that, out of fourteen games, seven were lost, two of these by one-point margins, but the period covered by the winter sport has been such a hectic one at Trinity that several of the losses must be discounted somewhat.

In answer to Coach Drew's call for candidates after the Thanksgiving recess, four letter men and three other veterans of the previous year's winning squad reported. With these men, Captain Nordlund, Canner, Mills, Mohnkern, Keating, Ortgies, and Brill, as a nucleus, and with Wright as an addition, the coach set to work. A game scheduled with Columbia for December 10 was cancelled because of lack of proper training. The season opener came, as usual, with Middlebury at Hartford, and, as usual, it resulted in an easy victory, 41 to 17. All the men on the squad were pushed into the game and teamwork showed up well. Next came Lebanon Valley, with three ex-Hartford High School men in the line-up. A close game resulted but the 'varsity again came through with a win, this time 28 to 21.

During the Christmas recess Coach Drew's plans received a serious setback when it was announced that ex-captain Tansill would be unable to play. He had dislocated his shoulder in football and the joint refused to set solidly. Therefore, Dr. Swan prohibited him from playing during the season. Mohnkern took his place at right guard permanently.

Amherst Defeated.

The first trip came on January 13 and 14 to Amherst. On Friday night Massachusetts Aggies entertained on their barn-like court, which is a thorn in the side of every team in New England. The peculiar floor was too much and the first defeat of the season was charged to the team, 27 to 18. The second game of the trip was decidedly satisfactory. Amherst, after holding a one-point lead at the close of the first half, was defeated 37 to 23 by a burst of speed in the closing period.

Returning to Hartford the team met Boston College. The manager of the visitors frankly announced that as soon as they could beat Trinity they would rid their schedule of such a trying game. However, the time is not yet. Although the game was a close and hard fought one, more so because Canner's illness broke up the combination, the Trinity speed-artists came through 28 to 22. In this game Ortgies demonstrated the fact that Coach Drew had good secondary power. Substituting for Canner he was high scorer for the evening and played a whirlwind game on the floor.

Knox College, on its invasion of the East, came to Hartford at the height of its power and registered a win, 28 to 18. In this game Canner's absence was keenly felt. No one on the floor could shoot the many fouls called on the Kentuckians, and victory bounced off the hoop from the foul line. The Junior Week game was a victory 26 to 18, Tufts furnishing little opposition. In fact, Trinity's worst foe in this game was its own lackadaisical playing. Following this game Mills and Mohnkern bid farewell to the squad for the season.

As usual, Brown proved an unexpected snare in the schedule, and for the second straight year won by a single point. The score, 28 to 27 was exactly the same as that of a year ago. On comparative strength the game should have gone to the Blue and Gold by a wide margin, but a general let-down of vigilance ruled otherwise.

Win From Aggies.

The climax of the season came on February 15 when the Aggies from Storrs arrived, confident of victory. No one conceded captain Nordlund and his men an even chance. Had not the Aggies defeated West Point, Harvard, Brown, and Springfield on their own courts? Critics did concede Trinity a remarkable defense. Jepson had stepped into the vacancy at center and Miller, last year's center, was playing his natural position, guard. Even with this added strength, however, neutral observers looked for another Aggie victory. The game was a whirlwind affair with foul shooting prominent. The boasted Aggie attack broke through twice for scores, early in the first half and late in the second half. The final count was 21 to 19.

After this gruelling battle, with only two days' rest, the team was called upon to face Syracuse. This game was much slower than its predecessor, and fouls were almost continuous. Syracuse, led by its coach, gave an exhibition of poor sportsmanship and ignorance of gentlemanly conduct that speak ill for any college. However, they had just enough strength to conquer weakened Trinity by a point, 30 to 29.

The long grind of the season, illness, and the series of fires, now made itself felt and the team hit a slump that lasted until the closing game. First C. C. N. Y. handed a makeshift team the only severe beating of the season, 48 to 27. Captain Nordlund established a college record in this game when he went out on personal fouls in ten minutes.

The return game with the Aggies was a continuation of the slump. The dash and drive were lacking in the second half and the Aggies registered a victory for the first time in four starts, 24 to 17. Springfield at Springfield was a repetition of the three preceding starts. Trinity led at the end of the first half 12 to 8, but could not increase its pace. The consequence was the fourth straight defeat, 35 to 22.

After a ten day lay-off, in which the squad recuperated, the season closer was an easy affair, as has already been said.

Nordlund Stars.

Captain Nordlund, playing his last year, was the outstanding figure both on attack and defense. Although playing a guard position, he was third high man in individual scoring and bested the combined efforts of the centers. When he was bulk of the attack during the season. Ortgies worked in as a substitute forward in most of the games and played two entire scrimmages when Canner was sick, and one when Keating was laid up. His speed equalled Keating's and he excelled the entire squad in following up a shot. His best work of the year came in the Boston College game when he got four baskets.

Center was divided between Mills and Jepson. Mills played until he came under faculty ban at mid-years, and then Jepson, a Freshman, took up the burden. Of the two, barring a slight nervousness and a tendency to commit technical fouls, Jepson was the more valuable. He got back on defense fast, and frequently broke up a hostile attack in mid-court. On the attack he was quick in getting down the floor and was a dangerous man under the basket. Mills handles a ball in a remarkable fashion and is a fairly accurate shot. He could be depended upon to get the tip-off and start the attack, however, he was a trifle slow in getting back on defense.

Tansill Is Missed.

The other guard position had various occupants, all of whom were inferior to "Freddie" Tansill, who was unable to play. Mohnkern covered the hang-back guard most of the time until mid-years, with Brill as an alternate. Following examinations Miller, last season's center, became eligible and took the job. He was by all odds the best of the series, but was hampered by a weak ankle. During the last game he treated himself to an orgy of scoring, accounting for ten points, and turning in high score for the evening. At various times, Fischer, Norman, and Sinclair, spelled Miller, and played acceptable basketball.

Prospects for next year are unusually bright. Of the eight letter men only captain Nordlund is lost by graduation. The battle for forward will be between Canner, Keating, Ortgies, Norman, and Sinclair, with the two veterans having the edge. At center Jepson and Mills will stage a battle royal, with Jepson's speed the probable deciding factor. For guards Coach Drew will have Miller, Mohnkern, Brill, Fischer, and Wright. Miller stands out as the strongest.

No account of a season would be complete without a brief acknowledgment of the work of the coach. "Spud" has turned out two winning

"SPUD" IS GIVEN A SHOWER—HE THREATENS TO GET MARRIED SOON

The Coach Receives Tinware, a Traveling Bag, and Instructions in the Ceremony.

In honor of his approaching marriage to Miss Marion Donnelly of Springfield, Coach Drew was given a "shower" by some of the members of the teams and men who board at Mrs. Noonan's last Thursday night at Mrs. Noonan's house. A feature of the evening was a mock marriage in which Robert F. Murphy, '24, appropriately garbed in baseball uniform, took as his wife a blushing bride in the person of Harold T. Slattery, '21, the ceremony being performed by Malcolm-Smith, '25. Music and solo dancing occupied the evening, refreshments being served. Coach Drew, besides a miscellaneous assortment of tinware, which it is hoped will be of use to him later on, was presented with a traveling bag.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS CHANGES IN LETTER RULES. Break With Wesleyan Makes Old Rules Obsolete. Football and Basketball Affected.

At a meeting of the student members of the athletic advisory committee with Dr. Swan and Coaches Drew and Stone, held Wednesday, March 22, recommendations for changes in the rules concerning award of 'varsity letters in football and basketball were made to the Athletic Association.

Under the proposed ruling a man, to earn a 'varsity letter in football, must play fourteen full quarters during a season. This change is necessitated by the fact that the Wesleyan game, the one letter game, is no longer on the schedule.

Requirements for the basketball "T" have been changed in the committee's report from those in effect this year, chiefly because basketball is such a recent major sport that there was no background upon which to work a year ago. The proposed requirements are that a man must play one-half of all the halves played during a season. Under this ruling the exact number of minutes each man plays will be recorded by the scorer. If these foot up to one-half of all the playing periods a letter will be awarded.

Requirements in baseball, track and tennis remain unchanged. In baseball a man must play eight games of four and one-half innings each, or, if a pitcher, must play five games of four and one-half innings each. In track a man must score eight points in intercollegiate dual meets, or score one point in the New England Intercollegiate or Eastern Intercollegiate. In counting points for award of letter tied places are counted at full value. In tennis the award is a TTT. To be eligible a man must win two single matches and one doubles match, or one singles match and two doubles matches in Intercollegiate competition. In all sports the manager is eligible for the letter.

MITCHELL, '24, MANAGER OF BASKETBALL TEAM. Merchant, '25, and Jones, '25, Elected Assistant Managers by Committee.

A. Dale Mitchell, '24, of Bethlehem, Conn., was elected manager of the 1922-23 basketball team, and William H. Merchant, Jr., '25, of Carlsbad, N. M., and Theodore W. Jones, '25, of Perth Amboy, N. J., were elected assistant managers, at a meeting of the committee for election of managers, held Wednesday, March 22.

Mitchell is a member of the track team, and of Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity. Merchant is a member of Alpha Chi Rho, and Jones, who was on the Freshman football squad, is a member of Psi Upsilon.

HOWELL, '15, WRITES OF MACMILLAN'S ARCTIC EXPEDITION. Party May Remain Over a Year Studying Magnetism. Esquimaux Dying of Smallpox and Influenza.

Word has been received from George D. Howell, '15, former captain of the football team, and member of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, who is with the Macmillan Arctic expedition.

On August 19, 1921, Howell sent word that they were to enter Hudson Bay and further communication with his friends would be impossible for some time to come. He stated that the crew were confident and happy and looked forward with a great deal of enthusiasm to the trying experience which is before them.

The land being crossed by Macmillan and his crew has never before been traversed by white men. On August 19, 1921, the same date as Howell's letter—he entered Hudson Bay and hoped to pass through the dangerous Fury-Hecla straits on the west coast of Laflin within ten days.

Professor Macmillan's primary purpose in making this expedition is to establish himself near enough to the magnetic pole, to observe the terrestrial magnetism. Although the Carnegie Foundation has urged him to return as soon as possible with his observations, he may remain until next year, if there is a bare possibility that he can force the passages to the Fury and Hecla Straits—a feat never before accomplished by man.

Although the crew have remained strong and healthy, he tells us that the absolute extermination of the Eskimo race by influenza and smallpox, was only prevented, by the Moravians, who heroically sacrificed everything to the salvation of these stricken people. Missionaries, unable to give burial, gathered the dead in huge piles, saturating them with kerosene and completely destroyed them by fire. The Grenfell mission made up of doctors from the states, performed patient and diligent service during these times.

A wireless installed by Professor Pierce of Harvard enables them to keep in touch with home. This will prove adequate for the time being, but when the ship goes into winter quarters a larger antennae would have to be installed,—however, continuous contact with home will be possible.

DROP KICKING CONTEST TO BE HELD IN MAY

Reitemeyer, '21, Offers Medals For Winners In Two Classes.

With the change in the football rules making a good drop kicker even more of an asset than before, a special effort will be made here to develop men in this department and J. R. Reitemeyer, '21, a former member of the Trinity team, has offered medals to the men who do the best work in this field. The details of the contest have been left in charge of Coach Drew, but there will probably be two classes, one for football men and one for those who have not been on the 'varsity squad, two medals being offered in each class.
